NEW STORAGE COMPANY

INTERESTING DEVICES IN THIS LINE OF BUSINESS.

The Security Company Takes Over This Department of the American Security and Trust Company.

On Thursday next, which will be the first day of February, a new storage company will begin its career in this city. Unlike most recently organized concerns there will be nothing new about this company except its name and the titles of its officers. These were secured by incorporating under the laws of the District and taking the name of the Security Storage Company.

There will be nothing novel either about the business or those in charge of it, as the new company takes over the storage department of the American Security and Trust Company.

Albert M. Read, President.

Albert M. Read, president of the American Security and Trust Company, and the men who have been in active charge during the years the business has been built up will continue in those relations as the officers of the company. The big building at 1130 15th street will be the home of the company, and its appliances and devices for all sorts of safe keeping, whether from burglars or fire or moth will continue to be for the use of the patrons of the company.

The president of the company, Mr. Albert M. Read, has been the manager from the beginning. What that beginning was may be inferred from the fact that the first section of the great structure on 15th street was erected in 1881 and was only 29 feet in width and had a depth of 140 feet. Now it has a width of 81 feet and a depth of 23 feet, while at the rear it is 140 feet.

Some of the Facilities.

In addition to storage rooms, art galleries for hanging paintings and other ornaments, this modern structure contains rooms of proper temperature for wines, safe deposit vaults and sections given up to cold storage, where furs, rugs and tapestries can be placed with no danger of being ravaged by moths.

The vice president of the company and also the treasurer is Mr. Clarence A. Aspinwall, who entered the service of the American Security and Trust Company when it was organized, which was in the year 1882. Six years later he was made assistant manager, and he held that position until the reorganization of the company, when he was made vice president.

The up-to-date methods employed by this company are shown by the fact that it was the first to install a cold storage plant for the purpose of affording protection from frost.

The petition filed by Police Officer Joseph G. Walsh, asking for a writ of certiorari to compel the District Commissioners to certify to the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia the proceedings and records in a certain hearing before the police trial board, was denied by Justice Barnard yesterday.

Walsh was given a hearing before the trial board last spring on the charge of engaging in a game of crap at the seventh precinct station and of talking with other policemen about participating in a game of chance. Before action was taken by the District Commissioners, upon his appeal, Walsh filed the petition for the writ of certiorari through Attorney W. J. Lambert. In this the question of the jurisdiction of the trial board was raised, but was not sustained by the opinion of the court.

The court said that the application ought not to be considered prior to an opportunity being given to the Commissioners to set upon the case, and the defendant thereby exhaust his remedy before them, and the justice suggested to the Commissioners that, in passing upon the evidence they must be careful not to consider the hearsay testimony as to the alleged offense which appeared in the record. It was claimed by the defendant that the only testimony which tended to prove the offense was of a hearsay character.

POLIOCY ENTERPRISE

GAMBLING BY WIRE FROM CINCINNATI ALLEGED.

Commonwealth Attorney Mackey of Alexandria County Says He Has Made an Important Arrest.

By the arrest of a colored man giving him a name as Richard Gray and charged with policy, Commonwealth attorney Mackey of Alexandria county, Va., believed that the county authorities had secured one of the agents in a gambling enterprise operating with Cincinnati, Ohio, as the base and Alexandria county as one of the terminals. Gray was taken into custody last night at Arlington Junction and was removed to the county jail.

The information he received led him to plan a trip to Arlington Junction, where he was to meet a man named "Pony" who was to be in charge of the operation. Mackey, the commonwealth attorney visited the place early last evening and apprehended Gray in the act of receiving a message from the operator. As soon as the negro saw that he was about to be arrested by the deputy he made a hasty disposal of the telegram, but the commonwealth attorney was able to satisfy himself fully as to its character.

In Progress Seven Months.

The prisoner stated that he had been engaged in conveying telegrams to persons in the county for about seven months, and explained that he was paid $1.50 a week for his services. Mr. Mackey learned that "runners" are regularly employed to convey telegrams bearing policy ciphers to various points in Alexandria county. The route followed, according to the information given the commonwealth attorney, is from Arlington Junction to Brick Haven, where a man takes the train and transmits the "code," from which point they are distributed, some to Rosslyn and some heading their way into the city.

The commonwealth attorney notified the operator at Arlington Junction not to receive any more such telegrams, and that he would be arrested if he violated the order. Mr. Mackey also directed the operator to notify the officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company not to permit their line in the county to be again used for such purposes. The agent was further told that the authorities would at once proceed against the officials of the company if evidence should be received that more messages of the character in question were being transmitted by the company to any point in the county.

Gray stated that he lived in this city, and that he was on Q street between 9th and 10th streets.

MOVEMENTS OF VESSELS.

Notes of the Coast and Geodetic Survey.

The following notes of the United States coast and geodetic survey were made public yesterday:

The primary triangulation along the ninety-eighth meridian, connecting the great lakes with the Gulf of Mexico, has been completed, so far as the angular measures are concerned.

The steamer Explorer, Capt. Farris, arrived at San Juan, P. R., after a very stormy passage, and is at work off the island.

The steamer Bache, P. A. Welker commanding, is under orders to execute work at Key West, Fla., and Matagorda bay, Tex.

The longitudes of Sitka and Seward, Alaska, were acquired, determined during the past season, using for this purpose the cables of the signal service from Seattle to Seward. This work was greatly protracted by the physician found that the woman had been burned by the steam.

The vessels of the survey operating last season in Alaska have been laid up for the winter at Port Orchard, Wash. Two of them were engaged in the survey of the vicinity of Resurrection bay, and the other among the islands and channels of southeastern Alaska.

The old schooner Quik has recently been sold, and the sale of the ship has been authorized. Both of these schooners have been laid up for some time at Middosville, La.

Work is in progress in the Potomac river, in the Chesapeake, on the Florida coast, at Key West and on the coasts of Louisiana and Texas.

During the present season surveys will be made on the east coast of Luzon, west coast of Leyte, and on the coast of Cebu and the south coasts of Mindanao.

During the last two or three months about fifteen officers have been assigned to duty in the Philippines. These were the new officers of the new vessels and to supply those whose terms of service in those islands had expired.

The following appointments in the coast survey service have recently been made: Joseph Bernstein, aid; H. D. Loring, aid; E. Ruppenhagen, aid; J. E. McQuinn, aid; E. W. Harrow, writer; G. L. Harrington, writer; J. W. Davis, writer; C. R. Wright, engraver, and C. Willenbacher, buoy collector.

The booklet is beautifully illustrated, and calls particular attention to the many advantages that a member of the organization enjoys.

REWARDS FOR FIREMEN.

Feats Accomplished During Drill on New Training Tower.

Commissioner Macfarland was the guest of honor last Friday at a drill of members of the fire department on the new training tower in the rear of the quarters of engine company No. 8. The Commissioner returned impressed with the value of the tower, not only to the fire department, but to the community in general.

"By their exercises on the tower," Commissioner Macfarland said, "the firemen will be taught to climb to great heights without fear, and to save persons from burning buildings in all sorts of emergencies. We have wanted this training tower for years, but never until last year, did we have money sufficient to build it. Even now it would not be an actuality if Chief Belt had not been so generous in his assistance. He has given us the tower, and the best work on the training tower within a stated time."

DEATH DUE TO BURNS

MRS. VIOLET M. LIZEAR FATALLY INJURED AT HER HOME.

Removed to Emergency Hospital—Three Little Children Had a Very Narrow Escape.

Having received frightful burns on her body, neck, arms and legs, from which she suffered intense agony for several hours, Mrs. Violet M. Lizear of Burnt Mills, Montgomery county, Md., died at the Emergency Hospital last evening about 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Lizear was in her home with her three small children when her dress caught fire from the kitchen stove. The children were powerless to help her. The unfortunate woman would probably have been burned to a crisp had it not been that her husband was near the house at the time and reached her in time to extinguish the flames and save the little ones from probable death.

Dr. Brown of Burnt Mills was summoned to the house as soon as Mr. Lizear occurred. The physician found that the woman had been so terribly burned that hospital treatment was absolutely essential. Even with the most skillful care it was doubtful if Mrs. Lizear could live very long. The physician, however, thought that it was worth while making the effort, and upon his advice the husband removed the patient to the Emergency Hospital.

Mr. Lizear, who is one of many persons of that name living in Montgomery county, conducts a small dairy farm. His wife, who was twenty-one years of age, and his three children occupied the family home. Mrs. Lizear and the children were in the kitchen about noon yesterday, the mother being engaged in preparing the noon meal. It was while she was passing the stove that her dress ignited. She leaped away as far as possible without leaving the room. After she had been taken to the hospital, the physician concluded that her efforts would probably prove unsuccessful, she screamed for assistance.

Rushed to Wife's Aid.

Mr. Lizear, who was not far away from the home at the time, rushed into the house to see what was the matter. Much to his surprise he found his wife standing near the middle of the floor making a feeble effort to extinguish the blaze, her strength having been almost exhausted before she called for aid. The husband lost no time in his efforts to be of assistance, but it was not until his wife's clothes had been almost entirely consumed that he succeeded in extinguishing the flames. Despite the serious nature of her burns, Mrs. Lizear did not lose consciousness and realized how seriously she had been burned.

Neighbors were summoned, several women among them, and the sufferer was given every attention she possibly could have received from a hospital. Two of the neighbors volunteered to accompany Mrs. Lizear to the hospital. Several times during the trip she inquired about the safety of her children and seemed to imagine that they had been near enough to her to get burned. It was about 5 o'clock in the afternoon when the patient reached the hospital. Mrs. Lizear remained there only a short time, as it was necessary for him to return home with those who had come to assist his wife. Capt. Amis had a telephone message sent to Burnt Mills notifying Mr. Lizear of the death of his wife, and the body will probably be sent to the family home today.

PLAYGROUND FOR CHILDREN.

Large Area in Potomac Park Being Made Ready.

The big oval on the Potomac Park lying to the west of the approach to the new Highway bridge and the railway tracks through the park and between the railway tracks and the tidal basin is to be a playground for children.

In order to make the playground an ideal one, Col. Brown, superintendent of public buildings and grounds, wants it to be perfectly level, and in order to obtain this with a minimum of expense and labor, he has put the sand digger to work pumping up the liquid material from the bottom of the tidal basin. This water will be allowed to settle and will then be drawn off, leaving the deposited material, which will fill up all the hollows and level the ground, leaving a floor in the playground as level as it is possible to have it. On this playground will be located base ball, foot ball, tennis and spaces for other outdoor sports, and there the children of the city will be turned loose next spring to play.

It is understood that as the water is run off the playgrounds will be laid out. Just now the area resembles a big lake, on the surface of which a thousand and more persons could find ample room for skating without danger of anything worse than a slight wetting should they be unfortunate enough to break through.

The Potomac Park Board of Commissioners is co-operating with Col. Brown in beautifying the park and will plant running vines and shrubs along the edge of the water embankment in keeping with the general plans for the beautifying of the park. When completed in the spring, and the flowers are in bloom, the first portion of the Potomac park will be improved will be one of the show places of the city.

Bay Schooner to Be Repaired.

The two-masted bay schooner Emma V. Willis, which went ashore at the Patuxent river, storm in the mouth of the river, has been purchased by Wilbur D. Hubbard from her owners, J. D. Bonham and F. G. Usilton, and will have the vessel repaired and put in order for service again.

The Willis is now at a shipyard at St. Michael's, Md., undergoing repairs. When she returns to service she will be commanded by Capt. Benjamin F. Middleton. The Willis is a vessel of 45 tons burden and is 64.9 feet long. She was built at St. Michael's, Md., in 1883, and hails from Baltimore.

Launch Mercedes to Resume Service.

The steam launch Mercedes, belonging to the War Department fleet on the Potomac, which has been out of service for the past two years, will, it is stated, again fly her flags the coming summer, and will take parties of army officials out for cruises on the river water evenings. The little craft is lying at Bennett's boatyard, hauled out on the Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes, and is put overboard in the spring her machinery will receive a general overhauling, she will be repainted and her metal work will receive the polish that was on it a year or two ago.

Entertainment at Fort Myer.
